Miss Ward Pioneer Domestic Science Teacher in Mississippi.

The following from a recent issue of the Meridian Star will be read with much interest by the many friends of Miss Mabel Ward, who is so well known and liked in this city:

"Miss Mabel Ward, who left Meridian about sixteen years ago to study domestic science at Worcester, Mass., and later introduced the study of domestic science into the Industrial Institute and College in Mississippi, will probably visit Meridian this week, coming here from the University of Chicago, where she has held the chair of domestic science for the past two years.

"This young woman's life work has exerted such a potent influence in the educational scheme of Mississippi that a little sketch of her opportunity and how she made good may be of interest to many readers besides club women.

"To be sure, club women are interested for they gave her the opportunity—and that was all that kind of a girl needed—she made good.

"More than a dozen years ago, before the study of domestic science became popular, the school at Worcester, Mass., in order to arouse interest, sent out a free scholarship to the governor of each state, that some worthy young woman might have a free course in domestic science. The year passed and nothing was done about it. The following year the school sent the scholarships to the president of each state Federation of clubs. Mrs. Daisy Weems, of Meridian, was at that time president of the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs, and she gave the scholarship to Mrs. Hallie Christian, a beloved member of the Fortnightly club, known throughout the city for her good works, to do with as she saw fit, knowing it would be in competent hands.

"Mrs. Christian offered it to Miss Mabel Ward, a young lady in her Sunday school class. Miss Ward was attending the East Mississippi College under Dr. Beeson, and hated to give up the prospect of a certain diploma, for an uncertain and untried field.

"The aunt with whom Mabel Ward lived decided it was the thing to do, and got her ready, meanwhile sending the letter authorizing the scholarship to Miss Ward's uncle and guardian for his opinion. At the end of two weeks he replied that he "didn't think much of the proposition—saw nothing in it, looked like a wild goose chase to him, but he would leave the matter in the hands of the aunt, and whatever she thought best, he would agree to." The aunt had already by that time sent her on to Worcester, Mass., where she spent a year. Then she taught one year at St. Louis, taking a summer course at Chataqua, N. Y. She then applied for a position at the I. I. and C. Columbus, but they were not ready for domestic science, so she started on her third term teaching in St. Louis. She had hardly begun before she was called to Columbus—They wanted her, but having started in St. Louis she refused the Columbus offer, until they raised their offer to two hundred dollars. She then secured a substitute in St. Louis and went to Columbus. "By her work" she is known there, where she taught several years. She secured a two years' leave of absence and took a time president of the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs, and she gave the scholarship to Mrs. Hallie Christian, a beloved member of the Fortnightly club, known spending one summer traveling in Europe.

"Two years ago she was offered a chair in the University of Chicago where she still teaches.

At Columbus she was allowed the privilege of planning and building a domestic science hall, a model of its kind, and known as "The of its kind, and known as 'the Mabel Ward Practice Home.'

"This young woman's work in the state really laid the foundation which made possible the far-reaching home economic extension work being done by government agents today.

"Miss Ward's work illustrates the wisdom of a right choice by those having the scholarship to give. That she comes of the right stock is shown by her sister's record, Miss Bertha Ward, teaching in the Woman's College here for several years, left to take a fine position in Kansas City, and from there went to Cincinnati, where she holds a splendid position teaching Latin and Greek.

As a protegee of the Fortnightly club and state federation of clubs, Miss Mabel Ward's visit to Meridian will be of unusual interest, for she represents to them an educational force set in motion by and through the women's clubs."

Seniors to Present Another Play at an Early Date.

The Senior class will give as a second play Booth Tarkington's "The Man from Home," in which William Hodge starred in the leading role of "Daniel Voorhees Pike, attorney-at-law, Kokomo, Indiana."

Miss Ema Ody Pohl, director of dramatic successes too numerous for "honorable mention," is coaching the play. Miss Marie Smith, "the get-rich-quick millionaire" of "Such a Little Queen," will play "Pike." Miss Emmie Chandler, the "leading lady" of all the 1916 class plays is "Mrs. Granger Simpson," the hot-headed, loyal-hearted American heiress. The setting is in Italy, with its terraced hotels and quaint customs. The play is a genuine Booth Tarkington production, clever and sparkling.

"The Man from Home" will be given in the College chapel Monday night, April 24. General admission is 25c; reserved seats 50c.

One of the very pleasant meetings of the King's Daughters occurred last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. Betts. After the business session the hostess served a delicious sweet course to the members.

Mrs. Bessie Daugherty spent the week-end in Starkville.

Little Miss Lillian Shull entertained a number of her friends on last Tuesday afternoon at a birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shull. A number of games were enjoyed on the lawn after which refreshments were served. Each little guest received a basket of Easter eggs.

Teachers Enjoy Luncheon.

The luncheon given on Monday at the I. I. and C. by the domestic science girls of the eleventh grade of Franklin Academy to their teachers, was a lovely affair. The table held for its centerpiece a bowl of pretty pink and white carnations. Miss Josephine Senter was hostess and Misses Katherine Banks, Lillie Seay and Alma Egger, maids. Those invited, were Miss Susie Will Gunter, Miss Anna Terrell Hamilton, Miss Ella Lou Terry, Miss Gladys McGeorge, Prof. T. E. Lott and Prof. Frierson.

Spend-the-Day Party Is Greatly Enjoyed.

Mrs. W. D. Prowell entertained the members of the R. F. D. No. 6 Club with an elaborate Spend-the-Day party Thursday afternoon. An old-fashioned barbecue with all sorts of good things to eat was thoroughly enjoyed by those who were asked to share Mrs. Prowell's hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Simrall returned yesterday after spending a delightful week on the coast. The Mobile Register of Friday says: "W. A. Fraser, sovereign commander of the Woodmen of the World, with headquarters in Omaha, Neb., is on the gulf coast together with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Simrall. Mr. Simrall is state manager for the organization and is looking after the visit of the distinguished officer, who will be highly entertained by the various camps along the gulf coast during his stay."

The many friends of Miss Alma Lide, of Birmingham, are interested to know that she will be one of the attendants in the Parker-Catts wedding which will be solemnized in Centerville, Ala., on the 12th of this month.

The social given on Friday evening for the junior department of the Presbyterian Sunday school, was a delightful affair. After several songs, recitations and games, a delicious sweet course was served.

SIX OLD LADIES

REGAIN HEALTH

Famous Medicine Accomplishes Much in Treating Infirmities of Old Age.

For the past year or so, several of the more elderly ladies of the Old Ladies' Home on Rutledge Pike, Knoxville, Tenn., have been in a very feeble, delicate state of health, bordering at times on what might be termed, a general decline.

Their failing health was due, no doubt in a large measure, to the general infirmities of advanced age, and although they received every possible care and attention, they seemed to be beyond the reach of the treatment ordinarily administered in such cases.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Culton, the matron of the institution, they concluded to try Tanlac and it was a happy decision indeed when they did so. The reconstructive powers of the medicine were at once in evidence. They began almost immediately to feel better, eat better and rest better. Since that time the treatment has been continued with the most astonishing and gratifying results, but let them all tell their own story in their own individual way. Their statements are profoundly interesting.

Mrs. Houser was one of the first to use the medicine, and being at a very advanced age, her trouble had been more persistent and difficult to treat, perhaps, than any of the others. Mrs. Houser said:

"I have been in a very weak, nervous state for several years and have suffered principally from stomach trouble. I would go for months at a time without eating any solid food, and up to a short time ago spent most of my time in my room, as I was too weak to come down stairs. I ate some corn bread and spare ribs for dinner today and they seemed to agree with me perfectly, as I have suffered no bad after effects whatever. The horrible headaches and nervousness are gone and I am feeling so much better in every way."

Mrs. Martin, who was the next to testify, said:

"I have suffered a great deal from hard, darting pains in my head and had had stomach trouble. I hardly ever have a pain now, the catarrh no longer troubles me and my appetite is much better."

Mrs. Fink said:

"I was sick all last summer and I now feel better than in months. I no longer suffer from the headaches I had so much."

Mrs. Wallis seemed to be especially delicate and had a weak constitution and weak stomach. Mrs. Wallis said:

"In only one week after taking your medicine I began to feel greatly improved. I feel very much stronger, enjoy my meals more and rest better at night. I expect to continue taking Tanlac."

In referring to the above statements, Mr. G. F. Willis, who is personally directing the introduction of Tanlac throughout the south, said:

"I consider the statements of these old ladies the most remarkable that have ever come under my observation. I do not hesitate to say that I believe these endorsements to be the strongest that have ever been received by a proprietary medicine of any character."

Quoting from one of Mr. Cooper's lectures, Mr. Willis said:

"When people grow to a ripe old age, their digestive organs lack vitality and begin to act more slowly and less effectually than in youth. The circulation becomes poor, the blood gets thin, the appetite fails and the digestion is weak."

"Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive tonic, is the ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks, because it creates a good, healthy appetite, strengthens digestion, enriches the blood, and in this natural manner builds up, strengthens and invigorates feeble, run-down, nervous people, and is an unfailing source of comfort to the aged and infirm."

Tanlac is sold exclusively in Columbus at S. B. Street and Sons drug store.
